

Identity Properties

By Kristen Gould Case

What's the best way to find the perfect vacation lodging for you and your family when you're traveling? Ask a local. Ask a friend. Get a personal recommendation from someone who knows the area, right? Enter Identity Properties of Park City, Utah. Founded 26 years ago by owner Rob Slettom, a ski bum-turned-property-manager, Rob still runs the locally owned and operated business today, with heart.

Identity Properties offers a wide array of vacation rentals throughout the Park City area, including ski-in/ski-out locations as well as those within walking distance of Park City Mountain Resort. The on-site check-in office provides a place for visitors to get personal assistance at any time during their stay. Identity offers a variety of condominiums to fit any price range, from one to five bedrooms. Most lodging properties offer a swimming pool, common area hot tubs, and on-site check-in/front desk. With a particular focus on family-friendly accommodations, many of Identity's locations offer extensive landscaped areas, conducive to outdoor family fun.

New this year, Identity Properties is proud to represent the Newpark Resort townhomes, adjacent to the beautiful 1,200-acre Swanner Nature Preserve and the thriving community of the Redstone area, which includes numerous restaurants, boutiques, retail shops, a bookstore, an organic grocery store, a brew pub, sporting goods stores and more.
